

Built for the next wave of commerce.

A flexible, expressive identity for eCommerce growth,
designed to feel sharp in every channel.

VERSION 1.0

A brand with momentum.

Hyprr Brands is modern eCommerce growth - intelligent and energetic, never generic or overworked.

What we signal

Strategic speed, commercial confidence, and a clear point of view. Every touchpoint should feel edited, useful, and alive.

What we avoid

Cold corporate sameness, chaotic color use, hype without proof, and decorative design that slows down the message.

BRAND PERSONALITY

SMART

Clear thinking, no jargon

ENERGETIC

Movement and positive tension

COMPOSED

Clean hierarchy, generous space

BOLD

Decisive type and color blocks

Our visual operating principle

One message. One color. One action.

Use the accent palette to create rhythm across a system - not noise inside a single composition.

The Hyprrr wordmark

Keep it simple, spacious and unmistakable.

Clear space: at least the height of the "h" on every side.

USE THE WORDMARK

Use the wordmark in Ink, White, or Violet only. On expressive fields, choose White or Ink based on contrast. Do not outline, shadow, distort, or use gradients inside the logo.

OK DO

Use plenty of room.

X DO NOT

Stack or condense.

X DO NOT

Use on low contrast.

For early materials, use a clean lowercase wordmark setting in Helvetica/Arial Bold.

Replace with a custom logo lockup once the final mark is commissioned; these rules still apply.

A multi-color system with discipline.

Violet anchors the identity. Accent colors bring campaign energy, category coding and visual variation.

Text hierarchy

Ink for headlines and body copy. Slate only for supporting copy. Never use accent colors for long-form text.

Avoid pure black. Ink is softer, more premium and pairs cleanly with every bright accent.

Gradients with purpose.

Subtle blends add depth to campaign surfaces, hero moments and motion. Keep text off the busiest area.

Gradient rules

- Use at 5-15% opacity behind content, or full intensity only as a hero/campaign field.
- Never combine more than two gradient colors. - Avoid gradients on buttons, body text or dense data.

Confident structure, human clarity.

Start with accessible system fonts. Upgrade to the recommended pair when licensing and production needs allow.

RECOMMENDED SCALE

Display 48-64 H1 36-44 H2 24-30 H3 16-20 Body 10.5-12 Caption 8-9

Use sentence case. Let type do the talking - avoid all caps except compact labels and utility information.

Components that feel decisive.

Design around rounded structure, crisp type and one obvious next step.

BUTTONS / CALLS TO ACTION

Primary: Violet Secondary: Ink Tertiary: outline

CARDS

Card rule: soft 12-16 pt corners, restrained borders, 24-32 pt internal padding.

The digital experience

Editorial restraint meets bright performance signals.

PAGE FORMULA

Hero statement -> proof -> service clarity -> case study -> invitation to act

Keep 60-70% of each page quiet. Introduce one bold color moment per screenful.

A visual system built for the feed.

The goal: instantly recognisable in a scroll, while flexible enough for campaigns, education and culture.

CONTENT PILLARS

Feed rules

1. Own one color field per post.
2. Put the idea in the first 5 words.
3. Use repeatable label placement.
4. Build carousels with a clear cover, 3-6 useful slides, and a simple final action.

PPTs, PDFs and proposals

Present complex information with commercial confidence and effortless readability.

DOCUMENT FORMULA

PRESENTATION

One idea per slide. Big number or headline. Use accent slides to reset attention.

PDF / PROPOSAL

Cloud base, Ink text, 1 accent per section. Lead with conclusions, then supporting detail.

EMAIL

Plain and direct. Violet link/CTA only; no gradients or colored paragraphs.

Pro tip: never make slides or PDFs look like a website shrunk onto paper.

Increase whitespace, simplify navigation, and make every chart or callout earn its space.

Make every bright choice usable.

Accessibility is part of the brand: clarity builds trust and keeps the system professional.

Non-negotiables

- Do not rely on color alone to communicate a status or category. Add a label, icon or pattern.
- Minimum body size: 10.5 pt in PDFs; 16 px on web. Keep body copy Ink or near-Ink.
- Check final contrast in the actual context - gradients and image overlays change perceived readability.

Ready-made combinations

Use these combinations as a launchpad. Each gives a campaign or content stream its own character without losing Hyprrr recognition.

Decision check

Does this message have a single dominant color, clear hierarchy, usable contrast, and a reason to exist?

Make it clear. Make it count.

This guide is deliberately practical: a flexible system to use now, then refine with real work, real audiences and a final logo suite.

from these shared rules.
